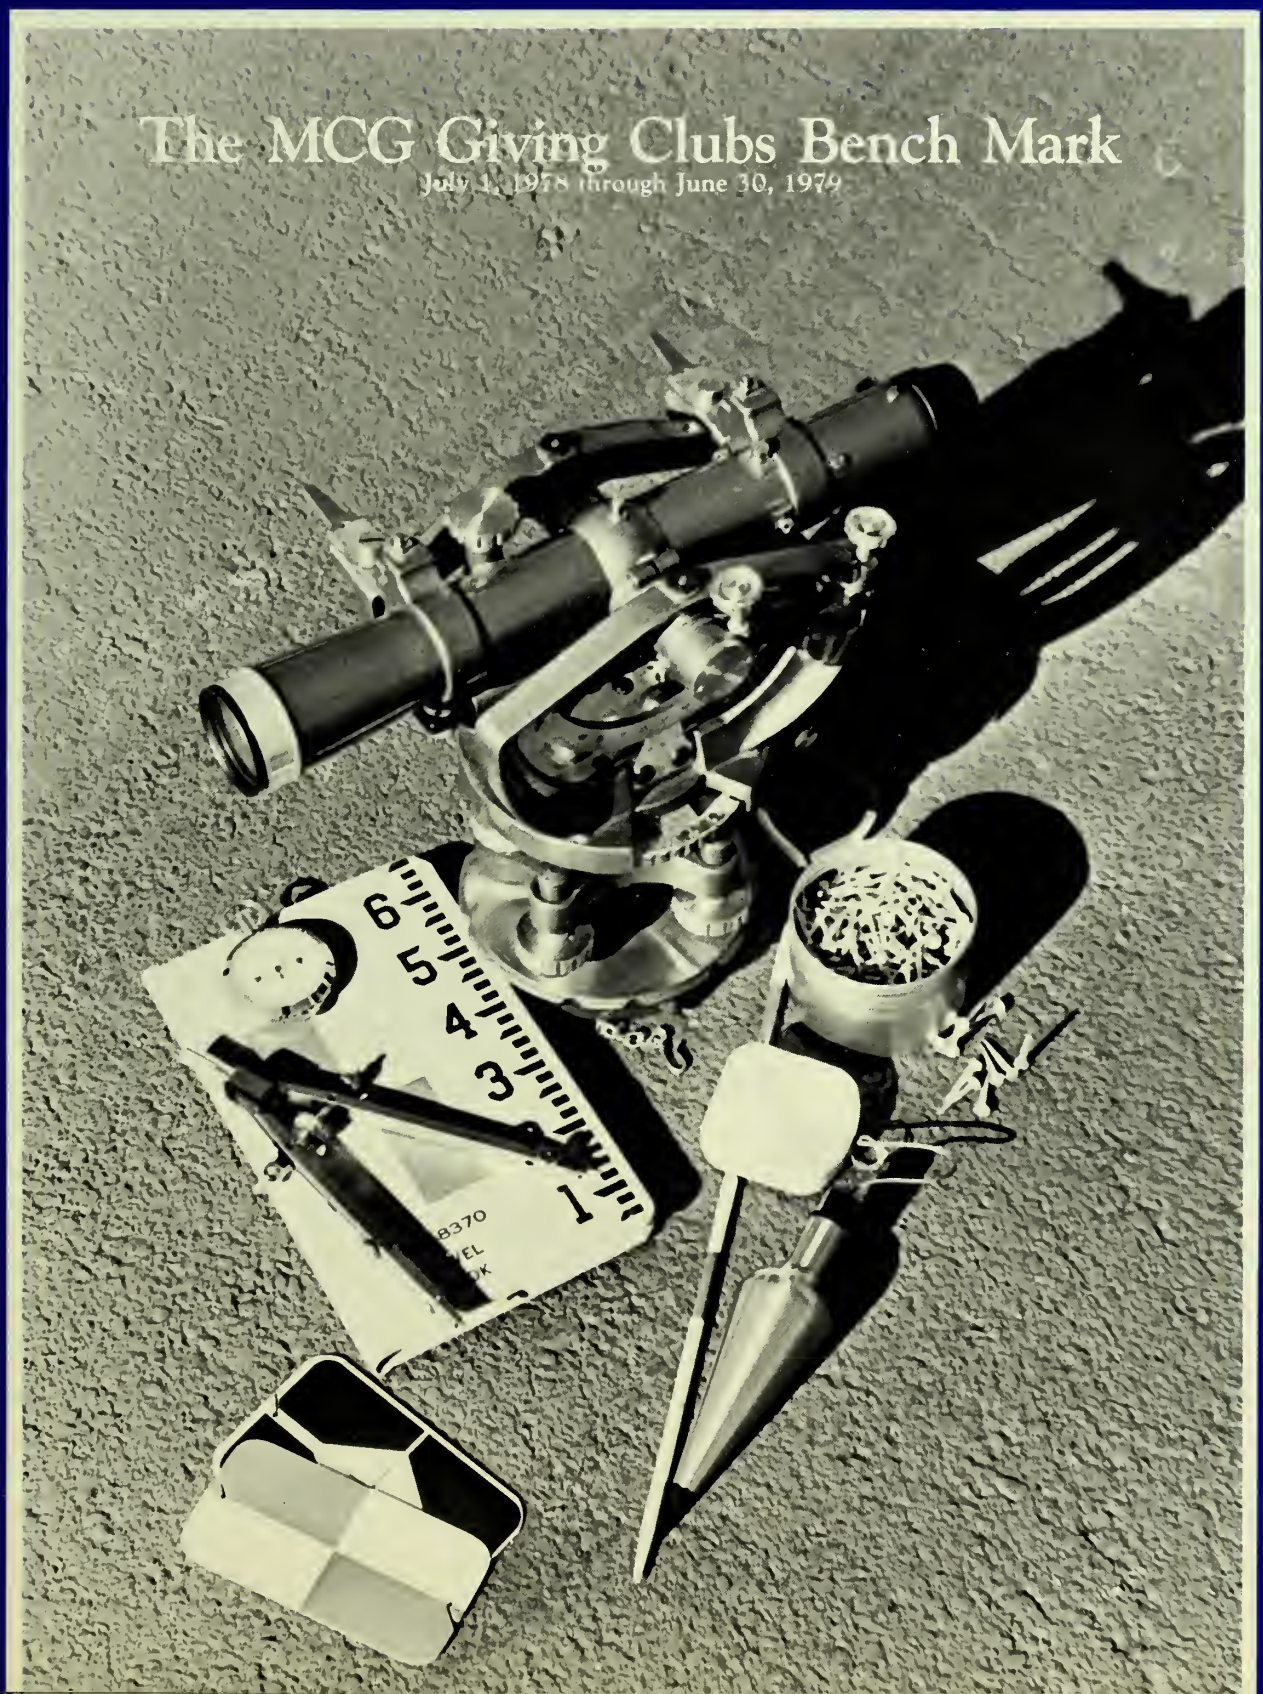
MCG Today

Medical College of Georgia/Augusta, Winter 1979 Vol. 8, No. 4



The highest reward for your toil is not what you get for it, but what you become by it.
—Author Unknown

The Medical College of Georgia is one of those rare things which is subject to constant pressures from all directions to improve. Everyone has a vested interest in seeing it succeed in every way.

It is equally unusual in that progress is always possible in every part of its operation. The only restrictions on successful progress are time, the human mind, and money.

A rapidly growing number of individuals, corporations, foundations, and other groups have contributed toward pushing back each restriction. This Bench Mark is an attempt to acknowledge the contributions of four primary groups.

The Presidents Club
The Founders Club
The Aesculapius Club
The Century Club

Foundations and corporations are eligible to join The Presidents Club, and are particularly honored by that group. Their annual gifts are also mentioned in a special section of this Bench Mark.

BEHIND THE LINES:

Happy New Year!

I always enjoy reviewing the history of the Medical College of Georgia. It took remarkable men to found the school, hundreds more to establish it, and thousands of men and women to sustain it today.

Charles Dickens once said, "When you drink of the water don't forget the spring from which it flows." Literally thousands of you have remembered during the 1978-79 contribution year, and we are delighted to list your names in this special Bench Mark edition of MCG Today.

As Dr. Phinizy Spalding of the University of Georgia Department of History prepares his commissioned history of MCG, you are making current history. Indeed, you are smoothing the way for future generations.

Most schools call this type of publication an "honor roll." We like that, but we like "Bench Mark" better. It is defined as ". . . a point of reference or a standard by which all other measurements may be determined, primarily in topographical and architectural surveys, and in tidal observations. . . ."

We wish that we had enough room to print all gifts, large and small, but we are forced by costs to print only those qualifying for Annual Giving memberships, or for Leadership Giving memberships.

The memberships listed are only those based on gifts received between July 1st, 1978, and June 30th, 1979. If you gave prior to that time, you were listed in the 77-78 Bench Mark. If you gave after June 30th of 1979, you will be listed in next year's Bench Mark.

Those wonderful people who pledged and/or contributed $1,000 or more to the successful Sesquicentennial Endowment Campaign were listed in the issue of MCG Today just prior to this one.

Let me speak frankly with you. The MCG Foundation is fast approaching three million dollars in actual assets. To have the kind of impact you would expect from this type of foundation, we need at least fifteen million dollars in endowment. Futhermore, most of the endowment should be unrestricted in nature.

You can help and you are helping. We, the faculty and administrators on campus pledge to redouble our efforts to far surpass this year's historic Bench Mark, and we call upon you to do the same. When MCG benefits, every graduate, every Georgian, every American, benefits in turn.

COVER:

Before even a foundation can be established, precise measurements must be taken, and "bench marks" established. Surveying equipment symbolizing this effort was furnished to MCG by the L. J. Henry Company of Augusta.

The Presidents Club

Members of The Presidents Club are recognized as special ambassadors of the Medical College of Georgia. They are invited to meet periodically with the President and members of the Medical College staff to discuss objectives, plans, problems and progress.

Four able presidents have led MCG: Dr. G. Lombard Kelly, Dr. Edgar R. Pund, Dr. Harry B. O'Rear, and Dr. William H. Moretz. Their lifelong dedication, leadership, and personal financial support to the Medical College of Georgia have established a standard which members of The Presidents Club seek to preserve and convey to future generations.

For more than 100 years, the chief administrator of the Medical College of Georgia was the dean of the School of Medicine. In mid-twentieth century, MCG began to evolve into a major health science university serving Georgia and the southeastern United States. A president became a necessity. Schools of Nursing, Dentistry, Allied Health Sciences, Graduate Studies and the whole spectrum of health related research joined with the School of Medicine in a new teaching hospital — Talmadge Memorial — to transform the Medical College into an unusually unified institution of higher learning.

Under the leadership of its four presidents, and with the help of many private individuals and organizations, each new development has been carefully interwoven with a rich heritage of dedication, discovery, and compassionate care for people. Members of The Presidents Club are dedicated to the goal of ever-increasing effectiveness in educating new generations of health care professionals within this compassionate tradition. Accordingly, each member of The Presidents Club has personally or through an organization contributed or pledged $50,000 or more through the Medical College of Georgia Foundation.

New Presidents Club members are introduced at a formal dinner in the autumn of each year. There they receive a striking sculpture of the original Medical College Building (Telfair Street) created especially for The Presidents Club by the internationally respected sculptor Freeman Schoolcraft.

The following list (as of June 30, 1979) honors those who have shown unselfish generosity and genuine concern for the betterment of education at MCG:

The Founders Club

Since the Medical College of Georgia began in two borrowed rooms at the rear of Augusta's old City Hospital 151 years ago, it has educated, in mind and spirit, some of the finest practitioners of the healing arts in the United States. Pioneering educators faced the formidable problems of acquiring facilities and equipment, assembling a competent faculty, raising enormous funds privately, and overcoming the many questionable medical practices of the day. These tasks they accomplished with excellence.

The Founders Club honors those who had the foresight to begin, and also those who had the courage to continue, despite many adverse circumstances. It does this by refusing to surrender this school to its greatest modern challenge, the threat of mediocrity. It accomplishes its purpose because its members are equally foresighted and equally committed to excellence in our own time.

Each member has personally contributed or pledged $10,000 or more through the Medical College of Georgia Foundation. In recognition of this important leadership toward better health care through education and research, members of The Founders Club are honored at a formal dinner, usually in the autumn of the year.

Members are honored in several ways, and a bronze relief mensa of the original Medical College Building, personalized and mounted in walnut, is presented to each member. That magnificent example of Greek revival architecture was one of the dreams of the earliest founders. Considering the backward state of medicine in general at the time, along with the rural nature of Georgia and Augusta, it was a remarkable achievement for Dr. Milton Antony and his associates. Today the Medical College of Georgia has dreams equally far-reaching, but always single-mindedly focused on service to people. The members of The Founders Club are helping these dreams to become realities, Members include:

The Aesculapius Club

This important group of individuals from the business community, alumni from all five MCG schools, former residents and interns, health professionals from other schools who have developed an interest in MCG and its programs, and many other friends of the College, contribute $250 or more annually.

Beginning with no members on July 1st of each year, new and continuing memberships quickly establish the financial basis for many innovative programs which contribute to the excellence of the Medical College of Georgia. By June 30th of the following year a "Bench Mark" is established, and members are encouraged to provide giving leadership again. Membership numbered 169 in 1977-78, and 221 in 1978-79.

Programs which benefit are primarily those which cannot be funded by governmental sources, or those which can be funded only after serious damage would have resulted due to delay.

Aesculapius Club members are presented with a handsome walnut desk case inlaid with brass, after June 30th of their first year of membership. Continuing members receive special add-ons, usually after June 30th of the year of continued membership.

Funds contributed through The Aesculapius Club may later be applied toward membership in The Founders Club or The Presidents Club. Aesculapius Club members contributing $1,000 or more annually are encouraged to join The Founders Club without delay.

The Associates of The Aesculapius Club

The Associates comprise a group program tailored especially for the new graduate. Eligibility expires five years to the day from the date of graduation. The membership fee is $50 to $99 per fiscal year, which may be recouped almost entirely by participation in MCG Continuing Education programs. Further information can be obtained by writing to The Aesculapius Club, MCG Alumni House, Augusta, Georgia 30912 or by calling 404-828-4001. Current year members include:

THE CENTURY CLUB

Like the Aesculapius Club, the Century Club begins on July 1st of each year. Members come from a wide spectrum of interests, but each has a strong concern for MCG and its continuing success. Together they are moving to accomplish two important goals:

1. To stimulate active interest and participation in the activities of the Medical College by alumni, parents and friends, and
2. To provide greater educational opportunities for students of the present generation and for those to follow.

Membership grew from 271 in 1977-78 to 307 in 1978-79. Through their commitment to give $100 or more annually, many important programs have been stimulated. At the end of each contribution year (after June 30th), new members are honored with a handsome walnut and brass wall plaque, personalized and imprinted with a detailed representation of the Old Medical College Building. Repeating members receive a new add-on during this same "year-end" period.

Funds contributed through The Century Club may later be applied toward membership in either The Presidents Club or The Founders Club.
